THE WASHINGTON POST NAMES PDRI A 2022 TOP WASHINGTON-AREA WORKPLACE

June 2022 – PDRI has been named one of The Washington Post's 2022 Top Workplaces in the Washington, D.C. area for the fourth consecutive year.

“The Post’s Top Workplaces list is now in its ninth year and continues to highlight the companies in the Washington-area that employees deem to be leaders in company satisfaction and engagement,” said Washington Post Top Workplaces editor Dion Haynes. “Each year, the leaders at these companies are commended for their leadership and collegiality, qualities which have increased in importance to employees with the last few years of heightened transition and change.”

“We are truly proud and honored to be included in this list again this year,” stated Elaine Pulakos, PDRI’s CEO. “During an unprecedented time, it is important for us to know that our workplace and our culture is connected and engaging for our staff. We’ve remained agile and resilient and the fact that this acknowledgement comes from our own employees provides us with a valuable perspective on how we are performing as a company.”
